PUBLICISING YOUR CERTIFICATION

(USE OF AC AND ACCREDITATION BODY LOGOS)

GUIDELINES ON THE CLAIMS THAT CERTIFIED CLIENTS CAN MAKE.

When making claims about ISO certification on websites, email footers, publicity brochures, etc..., registered clients must ensure that:

- Any claims refer to Certification NOT to Accreditation
- Any reference to UKAS made in combination with the certification mark must be made as “<COMPANY NAME> is ISO <STANDARD> certified by a UKAS Accredited Certification Body”
- Any reference to UKAS made without the certification mark must be made as “<COMPANY NAME> is ISO <STANDARD> certified by Advanced Certification Limited, a UKAS Accredited Certification Body number 8872”
- Any claims shall not be worded in such a way as to suggest the certified organisation is endorsed or approved directly by UKAS.
- Any claims shall not be used in such a way as to imply that AC accepts responsibility for activities carried out under the scope of a client’s certification.
- Any claims shall not be used on any product branding to imply an endorsement for that product.
- We strongly encourage our clients to provide a link to our website (www.advcert.com). This encourages greater visibility of the standards and enables your clients to find out more about how certification is beneficial to your business and in turn to their business.
- Any claims about certification shall not be used in any way that might mislead the reader about the certified scope of a certified organisation EG: on a website where company locations not covered by the scope of certification are referenced, or where the certified client makes reference to other ISO or British Standards. Refer to the below table for examples
